THE OREGON COMMUNITY FOUNDATION
TOGETHER, CREATING A LEGACY FOR THE FUTURE

LEGACY The ability to look not only at needs today, but at what will be needed in the future;

The desire to set an example that others may follow;

The understanding that what we do today will forever affect what our world is like tomorrow.

In the 2011 Annual Report, we celebrate the donors, volunteers and nonprofit partners who work now to make the state a better place for generations to come.

Dear Friends,

Legacy has always been at the heart of The Oregon Community Foundation and never more so than in the past year.

As you will see in the pages of this annual report, we have had one of our strongest years to date, with more than $120 million in additional gifts – each one a legacy for our state.

We also paid tribute to Greg Chaillé’s 24 years of leadership at the Foundation.

Greg’s legacy is one that goes far beyond the assets of the Foundation: He has truly put the “Oregon” in “The Oregon Community Foundation.” His belief that OCF would succeed only if it represented the entire state was born out in his work. Greg traveled the state to encourage philanthropy, and he encouraged citizens in communities large and small to keep us in touch with the issues close at hand.

And we welcomed Max Williams, our new President and CEO. Max is making a smooth transition – filling some very large shoes – and bringing his passion for Oregon to his role as the leader of the state’s largest foundation. Max brings a deep understanding of the state’s strengths and its challenges and knows that how we meet those challenges – the solutions we choose and the resources we invest – will determine how successful we are in the future.

We look back on the year with pride in our work together and count on your involvement and support as we continue to build a strong legacy for Oregon.

Sincerely,

The Board of Directors

OCF distributed a record $86M in grants and scholarships that translates into support for 2,400 students and 2,100 nonprofits, working in areas from arts & culture to education and health & human services.

New funds totaled $127.6M, bringing the year-end endowment value to $1.1B.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Every year at The Oregon Community Foundation, donors establish funds for the long-term benefit of Oregonians. These donors, together with volunteers and nonprofits, are the connectors on which OCF relies. In 2011, these connections were stronger than ever. This annual report highlights some of the powerful results.

Oregonians established 121 new charitable funds with the Foundation, benefiting communities throughout the state.

The OCF Joseph E. Weston Public Foundation granted $3.3M in scholarships and assistance to Oregonians in need.

More than 2,000 students in 68 schools participated in OCF's Community 101 program, a partnership with the PGE Foundation to give young people experience in serving their communities.

The OCF-supported Chalkboard Project's efforts to increase effective teaching continued to gain momentum, reaching almost a quarter of Oregon's students and receiving a $24.4M federal grant that will allow further growth.

The Foundation's commitment to quality early child care and education continued with investments to improve the coordination, service delivery and impact of state early learning programs.

OCF partnered with other grantmaking organizations to form the Oral Health Funders Collaborative to increase access to dental health.

JIM PETERSEN, ATTORNEY, PROFESSIONAL ADVISOR

For Bend attorney Jim Petersen, giving back to the community is a priority in both his business and his personal life.

Here's how giving back works at the office. Jim said, "In my meetings with estate planning clients I almost always ask if they would like to make a charitable statement in their wills. They might say that they want to do something charitably, but they're not sure exactly what to do." That's when Jim presents OCF's fund options. His clients find the option's flexibility appealing.

Jim enjoys working with OCF, and his clients agree. He said, "I have never heard anything but positive comments from my clients about their experience with OCF."

OREGON ENTREPRENEURS NETWORK, GRANTEE

Making the leap from having a great idea to launching a successful company can be difficult. Through a $75,000 grant to the Oregon Entrepreneurs Network, Bend-based accelerator VentureBox is offering a 12-week "Venture Launch" program to help regional entrepreneurs make that leap: developing their business skills and improving their efforts to attract investors and secure capital.

"Helping entrepreneurs get access to mentorship, education and investment capital is a critical priority for Oregon Entrepreneurs Network," said OEN President and Executive Director Linda Weston. "We are delighted to get this opportunity to support rural Oregon entrepreneurs in this way."

Throughout the upcoming year, similar programs will aid entrepreneurs in Southern Oregon and in communities along the Columbia Gorge.

This grant is part of OCF's focus on jobs and the economy, which includes supporting the development of a skilled workforce and investing in job creation.

DR. ALLAN AND MABEL MACKENZIE, SCHOLARSHIP DONORS

When retired orthopedic surgeon Dr. Allan MacKenzie was a student at McGill University in Montreal, Canada, he found that he couldn't afford to complete his undergraduate science degree. "I was thinking of dropping out for a year," he recalled. "Then, somebody introduced me to a philanthropist named William Barter. He wanted to subsidize a worthy minority student-athlete, and I was chosen. His only proviso was that I had to pass that help on to others."

After graduating, Allan and his wife, Mabel, moved several times before retiring to Bend. But wherever they lived, they honored Mr. Barter's wishes. "After paying our student loans, we started supporting McGill, our alma mater," Allan said. "When we moved to the States, we also began helping students in our community."

Today, the MacKenzies have two OCF funds that provide college scholarships for minority student-athletes in Central Oregon.

"WE'VE NEVER STIPULATED THAT THE STUDENTS WE HELP HAVE TO PASS IT ON. HOWEVER, THEY SEEM TO DO THAT ON THEIR OWN. AND I'M SURE WILLIAM BARTER WOULD BE PLEASED BY THE RIPPLE EFFECT HE CREATED BACK IN THE 1960s."

ARLINGTON COMMUNITY SCHOOLS, GRANTEE

With the launch of the Arlington Community School's new health initiative, the city of Arlington is a step closer to its goal of increasing community involvement. More than 100 community members are now enrolled in a comprehensive health and wellness program that offers free and low-cost group fitness classes and health education. Grants from the John and Jane Youell, J.G. Edwards and Ward Family funds of OCF have had a dual impact: filling a gap in local health and wellness resources and establishing the school as a community activity hub.

Travis Reeser, Director of Community Schools, said, "With OCF support, this program has made a huge difference. It really has made our community better."

"WITH THEIR HIGH LEVEL OF CREDIBILITY AND SUCCESS, RECEIVING A GRANT FROM OCF SPEAKS VOLUMES WITH OTHER DONORS AND FUNDERS."

TREASURE VALLEY COMMUNITY COLLEGE, GRANTEE

Raising significant funds for community projects can seem daunting. Not so for Ontario's Cathy Yasuda, Foundation Executive Director for Treasure Valley Community College. "When Treasure Valley Community College became eligible to receive capital construction dollars from the state, our top priority need was a new science facility," said Cathy.

To secure the state's contribution, the college needed to find $3 million in matching funds. Cathy continued, "We had applied to OCF and luckily we were successful in getting a $75,000 grant from the OCF Miller Arts and Education Fund, which helped provide the capstone for the campaign."

BETTY KLEPPER, DONOR

In the late 1990s, Pendleton resident Betty Klepper resolved to see all 58 U.S. national parks. As of 2012, she’s visited 45. Her travels inspired her to create a 10-year fund for a National Parks Collection at the Pendleton Public Library. She chose OCF because “it’s known throughout Oregon for being very reliable.”

The National Parks Collection comprises books and media relating to every national park west of the Mississippi. As Library Director Kat Davis notes, “It’s a unique collection. There’s really nothing like it anywhere else.”

“OUR NATIONAL PARKS ARE SUCH
MAGNIFICENT TREASURES. I’M VERY HAPPY TO BE ABLE TO PROVIDE THIS RESOURCE FOR MY COMMUNITY.”

HANNA BETCHER, FUND ADVISOR NANCY WERNECKE, DONOR

Receiving an unexpectedly large inheritance might sound like winning the lottery, but for Nancy Wernecke it came with the responsibility and challenge of managing charitable contributions for her father's estate. "It was important to me to continue to honor my father and the spirit of philanthropy that had been an important part of his life," said Nancy. After allocating funds to support his own choice of causes and contributing to his grandchildren's education, he left stewardship of the remaining funds in Nancy's hands and asked that her stepdaughter Hanna Betcher, a college student, assist in the process. Nancy chose OCF because of its donor-advised fund option and overall giving philosophy.

Choosing among the many deserving organizations could be a daunting task for newcomer philanthropists like Nancy and Hanna, but OCF staff was ready with insight and information to help them. Hanna appreciates how hands-on OCF is. "We can sit in an office and discuss what we're most interested in, but at the same time we can actually go out and become as involved as we want. This really makes it personal."

DEL'AUORE KYLY, VOLUNTEER

When Del'Aurore Kyly was one year old, her family emigrated from Laos to Lebanon, Oregon. As a first-generation American and one of the first members of her family to attend college, Del'Aurore understands the difference that access to education can make in a person's life.

Today, Del'Aurore is the Program Manager at Grant-makers for Education and volunteers as a scholarship reviewer for OCF.

"I was impressed by OCF's deep knowledge of education and their dedication to learning what's happening in rural and urban Oregon," she recalled.

Del'Aurore is also heartened by the dedication of OCF's scholarship applicants. "So many students faced personal challenges," she said. "It's inspiring to learn their stories. I can't imagine a more wonderful volunteer experience."

Two thousand mattresses, 1,000 dressers and 800 kitchen tables – these are just a smattering of the household items the Community Warehouse collected and placed in 2011.

As the only furniture bank serving the Portland metro area, the Community Warehouse helps thousands of families create stable homes and offers others the opportunity to recycle unused household items to neighbors in need.

Thanks to a $23,000 grant from the Miller Charitable Fund and the Hayes Family Fund of OCF, the Community Warehouse will increase services in both Washington and Clackamas counties by leasing a new space on Nyberg Road. This will reduce the need for both clients and donors to travel long distances to reach a Community Warehouse location.

According to Executive Director Kristy Wood (above left), “Washington County has about 2,300 homeless kids documented. As those kids move into housing, we can get them a bed, a pillow and a blanket. That’s something that we’re really proud of – getting those kids off the floor and into their own beds.”

HAL SNOW, ATTORNEY, PROFESSIONAL ADVISOR

“It’s about trying to help people find what will make them feel good in their hearts.” That’s the philosophy Astoria attorney and OCF board member Hal Snow follows when he confers with clients on charitable options for their estate planning.

Hal points out that OCF is creative in finding the best ways to fulfill a donor’s intentions. “Les Raw, who was the mayor of Seaside, and his wife, Sarah Louise, left a generous fund with instructions that it be used to benefit Seaside youth. They named some groups active in Seaside youth programs but didn’t limit grants to them. Because of that flexibility, as the needs of Seaside youth evolve, OCF is able to make further grant recommendations. Seaside’s new public library includes the Lester and Sarah Louise Raw Young Adult Room. Les and Sarah may not have anticipated that, but they would be delighted at this use of their gift.”

“OCF’S PROFESSIONAL STAFF IS VERY GOOD AT HELPING FOLKS DETERMINE WHAT WILL BRING THEM PERSONAL SATISFACTION.”

SHEILA NOLAN, VOLUNTEER

Now that she no longer commutes to the Beaverton area, Sheila Nolan is finding new friends and taking on new challenges in her North Coast community.

As a member of OCF’s North Coast Leadership Council and a volunteer grant evaluator, Sheila learns about organizations and needs in Clatsop, Columbia, Tillamook and Lincoln counties and provides direction to OCF in meeting those needs.

She also takes her role as a donor seriously: “Our donations to OCF are a legacy we leave. OCF will put our money where it is needed most for the kids and the future.”

For young musicians with dreams of playing in an orchestra, solo lessons simply aren't enough. Playing in a group is a critical part of their development. With the help of a $10,000 grant from the Dorothea M. Lensch Fund, the Newport Symphony Orchestra is partnering with Salem Youth Symphony's Philharmonic Orchestra and the Oregon Pro Arte Youth Chamber Orchestra to bring a community of young musicians together led by seasoned professionals. By 2015, NSO plans to create an Oregon Coast Youth Symphony to continue to give youth further opportunities to improve and hone their music studies as part of an ensemble.

BRENT AND NATSUMI NEILSEN, DONORS

OCF donor Brent Neilsen has lived in Salem for most of his life. “Salem is a great place for families,” he says. “We’ve benefited a lot from this community.”

“We come from a small-business background,” he explains. “It’s a rich tradition among most people in small business to give back to the community.” In fact, Brent’s parents, Tom and Chris, also have their own OCF fund.

Brent and Natsumi are passing the family’s philanthropic tradition down to a new generation through the Brent and Natsumi Neilsen Family Fund. “Our kids both act as advisers for the fund,” Brent says. “It gives them the opportunity to experience philanthropy and helps us to build that value system in them. That’s very important to us.”

EDEN ROSE BROWN, ATTORNEY, PROFESSIONAL ADVISOR

Salem attorney Eden Rose Brown can’t remember when OCF wasn’t her go-to organization for estate planning clients looking to invest in both their children and their communities. One of Eden’s first priorities in working with families is ensuring that future generations are involved not only as beneficiaries but as active philanthropists.

“I strongly believe that in order to create strong family legacies, children should inherit philanthropic wealth in addition to financial wealth. That’s where OCF’s advised funds can be a perfect solution. Parents can make tax-favored gifts to their own advised fund and include their children as advisors in the grantmaking process.”

Eden offered an example: Robert and Mariam Arthur set up a donor advised fund at OCF, and after they passed away the four children became the advisors. “Not only has it kept the children together, giving in honor of their parents, but it’s also encouraged them to become more philanthropic in their own communities.”

COMMUNITY 101 AT ROBERT S. FARRELL HIGH SCHOOL

The staff at Robert S. Farrell High School works hard to instill a sense of self-esteem in their students – something that many of these students have had little opportunity to experience. The school is located on the site of the Hillcrest Youth Correctional Facility, a state-run facility serving males ages 12 to 25.

The OCF Community 101 program at Robert S. Farrell offered the students “an important step in building community in prison and having them experience a level of success. These kids realize they can touch a number of lives out there in a positive way,” said Gordon Kruse, the C101 coordinator at the high school.

Through Community 101, each class operates a mini-foundation, receiving a $5,000 allocation for grantmaking. Students identify issues, decide a focus, review grant applications and award grants.

“I WANT TO BE PART OF THE SOLUTION, NOT THE PROBLEM, AND COMMUNITY 101 GAVE ME THAT OPPORTUNITY.”

DALE THOMAS, VOLUNTEER

As a retired health care executive and a member of the OCF South Coast Leadership Council, Dale Thomas helped launch Ready to Smile, an OCF initiative targeting childhood dental disease in Coos and Curry counties.

Dale attributes Ready to Smile's success to the enthusiasm of volunteers from area schools and from organizations such as Curry Health Foundation and Gold Beach Rotary Club.

Dale also works with the Gold Beach Educational Fund of OCF, which provides students with continuing education scholarships.

Having worked on health care projects nationwide, Dale finds special satisfaction in local volunteering: "You see the impact of your work, because you're part of the community."

VERA RICHTER, DONOR

Vera Richter was all of 4 feet 8 inches tall, but she had a big heart, especially when it came to helping young people. She taught art and music in the Coos County schools and understood the value of higher education.

Mrs. Richter established the Uno and Vera Richter Memorial Scholarship Fund at OCF, with the assistance of her long-time friend, Bob Mahaffy. The fund was created for graduates of Marshfield High School in Coos Bay.

According to Bob, "Mrs. Richter took great pleasure in financing students' college education. In one case, she helped finance the education of a Marshfield High School graduate all the way through medical school."

Four years ago, Mrs. Richter passed away at the age of 102. Her interests and energy will continue in the robust scholarship fund she created.

READY TO SMILE: CHILDREN'S DENTAL HEALTH

Nineteen-cent hourglass toothbrushing timers have proved a popular weapon in the arsenal of volunteers working to improve children's dental health. "Most kids hadn't seen sand timers before," one volunteer observed. "It was a big motivator."

For three years, OCF's South Coast Leadership Council has focused on improving children's dental health in Coos and Curry counties through its "Ready to Smile" initiative.

The Leadership Council members, working with other volunteers, remain heavily involved, calling parents to let them know about services, raising money and packing dental kits for schools. The results are impressive: The program has nearly tripled the number of students screened this year compared to last, reaching 61 percent of eligible students in Coos and Curry counties.

Ready to Smile is a program of OCF's Regional Action Initiative, which involves citizens in identifying and addressing local issues.

"THE READY TO SMILE PROGRAM NOT ONLY HELPS CHILDREN FEEL GOOD ABOUT THEIR TEETH, BUT THEY LEAVE FEELING GOOD ABOUT THEMSELVES."

THE LATINO PARTNERSHIP PROGRAM IN SOUTHERN OREGON

The barriers of poverty, culture and language combine to make the graduation rates of Hispanic youth in Oregon unacceptably low. So getting their children through school successfully is a high priority for Hispanic families in the Rogue Valley.

In Southern Oregon, OCF's Latino Partnership Program is helping the Latino community have a stronger voice in their children's education through Una Voz, or One Voice, a coalition of local Latino organizations and leaders.

"We have been able to direct the tremendous energy that Latino parents bring to education, and the previously 'invisible' Latino community is now visible," said Ron D'Aloisio, Southern Oregon LPP coordinator.

ANNA DUNLAP, VOLUNTEER

"The more I see, the more enthused I am!" That's how OCF volunteer Anna Dunlap feels about her work as a grant evaluator for the Walker Fund of OCF. "I'm continually amazed at how much the Walker Fund benefits Jackson County," she says.

Sharing her enthusiasm with fellow volunteers is one of the things Anna likes best about working with OCF. "One grant evaluator said, 'I'd walk across hot coals to submit the recommendation for this grant applicant.' I think that's how most of us feel when we look at wonderful organizations that need funding."

"IT'S BEEN EYE-OPENING AND HEARTWARMING TO SEE ALL THESE ORGANIZATIONS DOING SO MUCH GOOD IN OUR COMMUNITY."

Dorothy and Carl Schoder are committed philanthropists with a passion for childhood education.

Before the Schoders moved to Oregon in 2003, their attorney in California advised them to consult OCF. “I was very impressed with the Foundation,” Dorothy recalled. She added, “When you give opportunities and support to children from difficult backgrounds, they just blossom. They do things you’d never think they could do, and it’s a beautiful thing to see. I really believe that they’re our future, and it’s a lovely picture.”

Active in the region, Dorothy is involved with Kids Unlimited, and Carl, a retired chemical engineer, is on the advisory board of ScienceWorks, a children’s science museum.

Ilene Hershner’s philanthropy arises from a lifelong enthusiasm for art and music. “I know there’s need everywhere,” she says. “But I’ve always felt very strongly about the arts. It’s so important for our culture, and for our children and grandchildren.”

Ilene is particularly passionate about the Eugene Symphony, which she supports not just through her OCF fund, but also as a volunteer. “They have wonderful junior concerts,” she explains. “They bring busloads of children in, some of whom have never been inside a theater or a concert hall. There’s even a ‘petting zoo’ where children can talk to the musicians, touch the instruments and in some cases play them. It’s such a joy to see.”

Ilene appreciates the support that the Foundation provides to donors. “OCF guides me so well,” she says. “I really appreciate that.”

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY OF LANE COUNTY, GRANTEE

A combination of chemical dependency, mental illness and sexual trauma has left an estimated 100 female veterans living on the streets of Eugene and Springfield. The St. Vincent de Paul Society of Lane County is set to do something about the situation. The organization received a $35,000 grant from the Nancy Morse Torp Fund and an Anonymous Fund of OCF for the VetLIFT IV program, which provides housing and wraparound services to homeless female veterans in Lane County.

VetLIFT IV is an outgrowth of a similar program that has been successfully serving male veterans. According to Executive Director Terry McDonald, “This is an effort to extend a ‘welcome home’ in a nontraditional way to veterans who need our help – and an opportunity to get back into the mainstream of life.”

“OCF HAS REALLY CAPTURED THE CONCEPT OF HOW TO INVEST IN OREGON’S COMMUNITIES BY INVESTING IN ITS CHILDREN.”

EARLY CHILDHOOD DEVELOPMENT IN DOUGLAS COUNTY

Early childhood development has been one of OCF’s highest priorities for more than two decades, with yearly investments of $1 million to $2 million in early care and learning programs.

Study after study shows that early support for children and families substantially increases the chances for children to succeed in school and become productive members of society. In addition, child care is an essential segment of any community’s economy, creating jobs and providing a critical service for working parents. In September in Douglas County, more than 100 business and community leaders took this message to heart and gathered for a summit on early childhood investment as an economic development strategy.

With a $100,000 grant from the Whipple Foundation Fund of OCF, the newly dubbed Douglas County Business Champions for Kids will continue to convene to take action to support the county’s children through quality early care and learning.

THE OREGON COMMUNITY FOUNDATION AND YOU

OCF is the trusted philanthropic home to more than 1,700 funds established by individuals, families and businesses. These funds support every type of interest and need – arts and culture, human services, education and more – ensuring that our state is stronger, healthier and more compassionate.

Here is what we offer as we help you connect to causes you care about and plan your legacy.

FLEXIBILITY AND FOCUS You decide how, when and where to spend your money. OCF staff helps you transform your wishes into action.

RELIABILITY Your charitable funds are invested and professionally managed in a large and diversified portfolio.

EFFICIENCY Working with OCF streamlines your giving and increases the impact of your gift today and in the future.

FINANCIAL STEWARDSHIP We help you achieve maximum tax advantages and work with your professional advisors to incorporate giving into your plans.

SUPPORT AND LEADERSHIP OCF staff and volunteers in local communities help identify local needs, so your donations can have the greatest impact.

THE OCF FUNDS

DESIGNATED FUNDS allow the donor to name one or more specific organizations to receive annual support.

LINDA MOORE: FRIEND OF OCF, CHAMPION FOR EDUCATION

Linda Moore, Bend resident and statewide education advocate, died last fall following a 10-month battle with cancer. Linda served on the OCF board of directors from 2002 to 2010 and was head of the Education Committee for six of those years.

Linda helped develop the ASPIRE program, an OCF-sponsored mentor program that is now in high schools around the state. She also helped create Saturday Academy, which connected students with experts in a variety of professions for after-school and weekend learning. "Linda always brightened our lives and she brightened the lives of children. We miss her," said Greg Chaillé, OCF Strategic Advisor and former OCF President.

INVESTMENT POLICY

OCF invests its permanent funds to provide a stable resource for Oregon. Effective investment management of these funds allows the Foundation to respond to today's needs while preserving and enhancing the real value of the funds for future needs.

ASSET ALLOCATION

A diversified portfolio is fundamental to OCF's investment strategy. A well-diversified investment portfolio helps maximize investment returns and reduce volatility. Our Investment Committee regularly reviews the asset allocation strategy. The allocation among asset classes at December 31, 2011, is shown at right.

INVESTMENT MANAGERS

To further diversify our portfolio, the OCF Investment Committee selects investment managers with expertise in managing specific asset classes. For a complete list of investment managers, please visit our website at www.oregoncf.org.

OCF INVESTMENT COMMITTEE

OCF's Investment Committee oversees the investment program, makes recommendations to the board of directors regarding investment policy and strategy, and hires and monitors investment managers. The Investment Committee is made up of community volunteers and OCF board members with expertise in investments and business.

GREG CHAILLÉ: FOR OREGON

At the end of 2011, Greg Chaillé retired, after 31 years with the Foundation, 24 of them as President. Greg's incredible leadership, vision and passion have left a lasting legacy for the state.

Much of OCF's success lies in its mission to understand and serve the entire state – and Greg has proven over and over again how deeply he believes in that mission: traveling to every part of the state to inspire people to philanthropy; setting up regional offices to serve donors near where they live; and engaging volunteers to be voices for philanthropy in their communities.

Greg also believed in the founder's vision that Oregonians would come together from around the state to improve our quality of life. And, in fact, his belief in the generosity of donors, the commitment of volunteers and the hard work of nonprofits has been a winning formula.

“Greg has brought vision, leadership and respect to The Oregon Community Foundation.”

The OCF staff toasts Greg in December 2011.

“Greg has always been dedicated to putting the Oregon in The Oregon Community Foundation.”

Greg’s visionary quality is further exemplified in the many statewide initiatives that he has championed, including OCF’s Early Childhood Program, to serve Oregon’s youngest and most vulnerable citizens; The Neighborhood Partnership Project, to help build affordable housing; the Giving in Oregon Council, to report on and encourage philanthropy; and the Chalkboard Project, to improve the quality of public education.

While statistics show the tremendous growth of OCF under Greg’s leadership, these numbers don’t reflect the countless day-to-day decisions and determination that led to that growth. During his time at OCF, Greg has driven the equivalent of five times the circumference of the earth.

“Greg Chaillé is an inventor and an entrepreneur as much as Bill Bowerman or Bill Gates.”

Through those miles, Greg:

Brought together thousands of people to share his vision;

Built OCF from a small, fledgling foundation into the state’s largest; and Amassed a fortune – not for himself, but for the state.

As a gift to Greg, the OCF board established the Gregory A. Chaillé Public Service Scholarship Fund at OCF to provide graduate-level scholarships to Oregonians who are interested in public service careers. This is an apt legacy for a man who helped so many others build their legacies.

In 2012, Greg is taking on a new role as strategic advisor to the OCF board of directors and the president – continuing his strong counsel as the Foundation moves forward.

From all of us who have been touched by your work and have benefited from your advice, thank you.
